BRIEF EXPLANATION OF SEQUENCE OF TEST

- IV will be inserted in arm or hand.
- Isotope, used for imaging, will be injected using the IV site.
- Resting images will be taken (13 minutes).
- Stress portion performed using a treadmill or IV medications (during this time, you will receive a second injection of isotope).
- BREAK – You will be able to eat and drink without limitations; and take any medications skipped during this time. This break period will vary in length of time (maximum 2 ½ hours). If you are unable to leave the office for lunch, you may bring a sack lunch.
- Return for stress images (13 minutes) to complete your test. The technologist will let you know the time of return.

IMAGING MEDICATION

The isotope is ordered specifically for each patient the day before their test, and according to their scheduled time. If the patient does not cancel their scheduled appointment at least 24 hours prior to the test, you may be billed for the two isotope doses.

QUESTIONS/CONCERNS
